

A Gift to the City Leaders and the People of Pittsburgh:

A Sacred Mayan T'zite Ceremony Forecasting our City's future

Generously given by Don Alejandro Oxlaj (13th generation Mayan High Priest, Primary Keeper of the teachings, visions and prophecies of the Mayan people, Day Keeper of the Mayan Calendar, Grand Elder of the Mayan Council of Elders of Guatemala, and Indigenous Advisor to Guatemalan President Colom), to Vikki Hanchin, on behalf of the City of Pittsburgh, upon his historic visit to Pittsburgh, 12/13/2007, as a unique cross-cultural gift.

This Ceremony addresses Pittsburgh's future, specifically how we will make the shift into a renowned global spiritual/healing center predicted by Nance Stewart and Frank Keller. The T'zite Ceremony is the ancient Mayan method for obtaining a divinely-guided forecast of future events, expressed in metaphor and symbolic language. All Indigenous cultures have their methods for receiving Spirit guidance.

The T'zite Ceremony Forecast for Pittsburgh

The present situation: The T'zite Oracle shows that the city has many worries about how things are at this moment: there is confusion, corruption, and disarray in general.

Next: it is shown that there are those with a good way of thinking, with ability to see truly what is really happening at the deeper levels, beyond the superficial level of appearances.

Choice, there are two paths: the city is still walking the path down into a dark ravine, to a low place, but there are those still trying to find the better, healthier path.

The challenge: How can Pittsburgh emerge together in a safe way from this dark, low ravine? How can this be done, with so many in Pittsburgh who are asleep?

The Outcome: The T'zite shows a promising outcome, the best possible outcome, of hope and solutions. There could have been outcomes of no hope, being stuck in that ravine. Or an outcome of at least having some company stuck with each other in that dark ravine. Or an outcome of an exhausting struggle to come out. But this T'zite shows the best possible outcome, it shows that in a world of living like in nighttime, in darkness, that the sun comes and illuminates our steps. Solutions are coming for these serious problems.

The Hope: Hope is within the community already here. There are authorities and there are community people who understand this higher path, and who see already how to set things right, to set the course to the higher path. It is a worthy struggle.

Caution: When inviting guidance, use discernment that the person is legitimate in serving the greater good. In Pittsburgh and in the world, there are entanglements of greed and confusion that do not lead to the greater good.

But the times are changing, and Pittsburgh is being born now into destiny to assist this change, this transformation.

Those walking the higher path in wisdom will untangle the knots of confusion and help us all become free.

Next, the T'zite shows strength: In time, Pittsburgh's work on that higher path will be like the force of a tornado. This tornado swirls like a woman's skirts and hair, and when she swirls, her movement brings others into the higher force. Pittsburgh is the spirit of that movement.

Next, the T'zite shows death—but not literal physical death: There is helpful communication with the wisdom of those gone before, the ancestors, and ideas resurrecting to serve the higher good. Not far into the future, more and more people will join together to deal with the big problems. A big community of women and men, a big community involved.

The outcome: Pittsburgh is moving onto the higher path, and step by step we will see the beneficial effect. Do not fear, but keep working together using intelligence and awareness, not force.

Here in Pittsburgh, we will link with other cities in similar struggle who will also rise up, and join us, seeing our higher path.
